

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

What "Grave Mistake"?

Washington, July 27.—The openness with which President Truman is trying to "purge" Representative Roger C. Slaughter, of Missouri, urging his defeat in the Democratic primary, making it clear that the Truman influence is all against him, has been used by a number of commentators to prove that the President has made a "grave mistake"; that he has allowed his "impulses to override his judgment"; that he is taking an "unnecessary risk"; that his intervention is "stupid politics," and a defeat will "greatly diminish his prestige."

NONE of these assumptions is well based. Certainly the record does not sustain them. Mr. Roosevelt, in 1938, intervened in eight states in an effort to "liquidate" Democratic candidates who opposed his policies. He was singularly unsuccessful. In only one district did the Democratic voters respond to his appeal. Yet, though there were hundreds of columns written about his "lost prestige," certainly he sustained no political damage. In 1940, breaking the third-term tradition, he was renominated almost unanimously and overwhelmingly elected, carrying by large majorities all the states in which he had so vainly intervened. He just was not hurt at all. And in a little while everybody had forgotten all about his "lost prestige."

SO much for precedent. There is no more reason to believe Mr. Truman would be damaged by defeat in his intervention than Mr. Roosevelt was in his far more extensive one. And he may not be defeated. Actually, the Truman course in this case seems the intelligent one. As he sees it, Mr. Slaughter not only is opposed to his policies but as a member of the powerful House Rules Committee is in position to block, choke and frustrate the Truman program. This he has most effectively done in the past eighteen months and, if re-elected, undoubtedly will continue to do it. He and the President are wide apart. There is no chance of bringing Mr. Slaughter into the Administration fold. Under these circumstances, Mr. Truman would have been politically cowardly not to have a showdown with Mr. Slaughter in his district.

AND what is the "grave mistake"? Where is the risk? That is stupid about it? Suppose Mr. Slaughter wins, as he easily may—for, heretofore, the voters have tended to rally to the "local boy" in instances of presidential intervention. It would be interpreted as a "rebuff" to the President and in a way it would be. It would be said that he had "lost prestige" and been hurt. But would that be true? Certainly, it was not true with Mr. Roosevelt. Why then with Mr. Truman? Actually, Mr. Truman would be exactly as he now is with Mr. Slaughter. That gentleman is the consistent and bitter opponent of his policies and not friendly, personally. A re-elected Slaughter would still be all that—but nothing more.

THE situation simply would not have changed. Mr. Truman would be just where he is now with a defeated member of his own party opposing him on the Rules Committee, where he can do real damage. He would have lost no personal strength and suffered no political injury. There is reason to believe Mr. Truman, who is anything but a stupid politician, knows all this and took the risk well aware of the interpretations which would follow a Slaughter victory. Certainly, the risk is worth taking if only to make it clear that he notes well his Democratic opponents in Congress and cannot be kicked around by them with complete impunity. And, as said before, Mr. Slaughter may not win.

THE "grave mistake" is not in letting it be known that he would like to see this Missouri opponent of his policies eliminated. A much better argument can be made that the "grave mistake" is in having these policies. For the fact is that Mr. Slaughter, for a consistent, conservative Democrat and the Truman policies he has opposed are really the old Roosevelt—New Deal—CIO policies which Mr. Truman felt he had to adopt and make his own. That was a mistake—first, because the policies are not sound and never were—inherently sound or in the national interests; second, because his adoption and promotion of these policies has not gained him the friendship of either the Roosevelt New Dealers or the CIO professionals. It not only can be argued that it was a "grave mistake" to adopt these policies but it can be argued that it was "stupid politics" and "unsound judgment" to have done so.

PROBABLY, Mr. Truman felt an obligation to "carry out the Roosevelt policies." Perhaps, too, he is convinced of the political necessity of them at this time.

NO PRICE ROLL-BACK

The credulous portion of the American voters who have been listening to the White House propaganda and the CIO baloney, and who think that prices will be "rolled back" promptly now that OPA has been revived, are in for a rude shock.

As a general proposition, there will be no "roll-back" affecting the prices paid by civilian consumers.

That wasn't the idea anyhow; the thing which the big-shot politicians in charge of Federal policy were after was an excuse to keep the price-control payrolls on the job through the coming election. Thanks largely to the phony "price-protest" demonstrations staged by CIO and PAC, this has been successfully accomplished.

But prices are on their way still higher—make no mistake about that.

There are several reasons why, in all fields except possibly rents, there will be no "relief" in the sense of lower prices.

In the first place, under the new Law, little can happen in most price lines for thirty days. New schedules cannot go into effect for that period.

In the second place, OPA itself no longer has any great importance in pricing. Most foodstuffs will be under the Department of Agriculture, and in any case, the real control is to be in the hands of a new body, fancifully named the "Price Decontrol Board"; and this board will have to be appointed by the President, confirmed by the Senate, and its whole administrative machinery put together, before it can function.

In the third place, prices in many consumer lines had "turned the corner" and were falling rather than rising when the OPA was revived. What will happen, of course, is that the decline based on the workings of supply and demand will stop abruptly, and the previous steady ad-

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

Intermittent violent showers, which diminished about noon Tuesday, raised the Neshaminy Creek, in the Edison section, to the flood stage again.

Justice of the Peace William Wrigley said the creek rose about three and one-half feet, beginning Monday evening. The Atter garage was flooded out and water reached the level of the floor in his office. Doylestown Township Emergency Police were called out to block-off traffic on the Poor House Road, between Route 611 and Jamison, because of impassable water in the low area.

The Wrigley house, which was struck by lightning on Sunday evening, was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars. The bolt followed a current line into the kitchen, damaging the electric range and burning the walls and floor of the kitchen.

A large oil truck, stolen while it was parked near Trainer's restaurant, Quakertown, on Saturday, was recovered later in the day in Bethlehem. Johns Wandle, Doylestown, was in the restaurant when the truck was taken. State Police believe someone looking for transportation to Bethlehem took the truck.

BUCKS 4-H CLUBS TO HAVE REPRESENTATION

22 Young Folks Chosen To Attend Sessions at State College in August

A FORM OF REWARD

Twenty-two representatives from Bucks county have been selected by Miss Edith M. Hopkins, the home economics representative, and Assistant County Agent W. William Clarke, Jr., to attend 4-H Club Week at State College from August 12 to 15.

The selectees have been given the opportunity to attend the sessions as a reward for outstanding work in the various 4-H branches. In the home economics branch seven girls were chosen on the basis of their qualifications, including age, length of membership, number of activities, ability, satisfactory completion of their projects and general outstanding work and spirit displayed in their 4-H work.

There will be only one home economics exhibit from Bucks county, and Newtown Outdoor Cookery Club, under the supervision of Betty Lowmes, will have charge of it. Those girls who have been chosen to attend the 4-H Club Week are the Misses Arlene Landis, Plumsteadville; "Betty" Lowmes, Newtown; Vivian Radcliffe, Carversville; Virginia Root, Danboro; Ethel Rumer, Newville; Jeanette Hendricks, Hilltown; and Sylvia Satterthwaite, Edgewood.

Assistant County Agent Clarke has announced 15 members will participate in the judging contests, which will be held for the agriculture branch of the 4-H clubs. Elimination contests were held in order

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

President Truman was believed to be still working to complete the membership of the three-man Decontrol Board, key agency in the new OPA, as price controls went into effect again yesterday after a lapse of almost four weeks.

The House-approved bill for streamlining Congress was accepted by the Senate and it went to the White House.

Representative Andrew J. May has a heart condition that makes his appearance as a witness inadvisable for ten days or two weeks, an attending physician told the Senate War Investigating Committee.

Congress passed and sent to the White House legislation for strict Government control of atomic energy. The President's approval was considered certain. Andrei A. Gromyko, the Russian delegate, told the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission that the making of an international treaty would not be "so complicated if we really desire to prevent the use of atomic energy as a weapon."

President Truman and other Washington leaders will be on hand to wish Secretary Byrnes good luck when he leaves by plane at noon today for the Paris peace conference. The conference will open Monday in the Luxembourg Palace with a welcoming address by President Bidault of France.

The treaty with Italy probably will head the conference agenda. Its text shows agreement among the Foreign Ministers of the Big Four on many major points, but frank disagreement on others.

The Austrian Parliament, defying Soviet warnings, voted to include in its nationalization program some industries claimed by the Russians as reparations. It also voted to ask the United Nations to permit an Austrian delegation to present its case.

An American note handed to Foreign Minister Molotov in Moscow by Ambassador Smith charged that Hungary had been stripped of essential food and industrial materials.

Justice Jackson, the United States prosecutor, opened the summation for the Allied nations in Nuremberg against Hermann Goering and his 21 co-defendants by urging the con-

Local Man Reports His Wallet Stolen

ALLENTOWN, July 27.—A recently discharged navy man, A. E. Beck, of Bristol, has reported to police here that his wallet was stolen from his trouser pocket while he was getting a fitting for a suit in a store here.

When Beck changed back into old clothes and reached for his wallet, it was gone, he said. He told police he had the wallet when he entered the store.

The purse was valued at $6. It contained $7 cash and a service pay check for $30.11, as well as personal cards and discharge papers.

QUAKERTOWN CLUB DEDICATES PLANE

"Buck" Taylor, As Guest
Speaker, Comments Upon
Virtue of Small Plane

FREE RIDES GIVEN

QUAKERTOWN, July 27.—The popularity of small individually owned airplanes was shown quite clearly to the members of the Rotary Club both by word and experience, when the guest speaker, before the club commented upon the virtues of this type of plane. After the meeting the members were given free rides at the local municipal airport.

"Buck" Taylor, a State College Rotarian, was introduced as the speaker by Rotarian George Setman, manager of the local airport. Mr. Taylor, who was 47 years old when he made his first cross-country flight, described the pleasure derived from cruising along at 100 miles an hour and viewing the change of scenery en route.

Mr. Taylor had flown his plane to this place for this appointment, and also for the dedication of the new plane purchased by the Rotary Flying Club, which had recently been delivered and which was used in the passenger service following the Rotary meeting. This club is composed of eight local Rotarians who have purchased the plane jointly, and have the emblem of Rotary International painted on the sides of the plane. As far as is known, this is the first flying club formed by a service organization anywhere in the world.

Mr. Taylor was engaged in aviation work of the government during the war. He was supervisor of flying cadets at State College, where

LATEST NEWS BULLETINS

Two Thugs Attack 25-Year-Old Mother

Philadelphia.—A 25-year-old mother was abducted in mid-city today and driven by two thugs to northeast Philadelphia where she was robbed and attacked.

The young sailor's wife, however, despite threats on her life, managed to work a penknife from her purse which was lying on the automobile floor, and stabbed one of the men in the side.

The victim, Mrs. Thelma Concession, was then hurled into Linden Avenue, near Torresdale, a lonely street, and the assailants drove off. She was taken to Frankford Hospital by police who had been summoned by residents and she was treated for cuts and bruises. She was then sent to her home at Second and Ontario streets, under a physician's care. Mrs. Concession's husband, Joseph, first class cook on a submarine, left from Portsmouth, N. H., yesterday. Her daughter, nine-year-old Patricia, is confined to bed with rheumatic fever.

Arkansas Lifted Out of Water by Atomic Explosion

Kwajalein.—Naval officers disclosed today that photographs of the underwater atomic explosion show that the battleship Arkansas was lifted bodily from Bikini lagoon and broke completely in two pieces before sinking.

The officers who requested that their names be withheld said the dramatic pictures were taken from the U. S. S. Saldor and did not know whether they would be released to the public.

They disclosed, however, that high speed films show that the 26,000-ton battleship was hurled intact into the air seconds following the underwater detonation.

U. S. and Russia Concur on Outlawing A-Bomb

New York.—The United States and the Soviet Union concurred today on the urgency of outlawing atomic weapons but a wide gulf separated the two powers on the timing of the prohibition. Andrei M. Gromyko, chief of the Soviet United Nations delegation, proposed an immediate ban on the manufacture of atomic bombs and adoption of an international control plan at this time.

ANOTHER 1,000,000 GALLONS OF WATER ADDED TO SUPPLY

Well No. 3, or "Iron" Well, Put Into Service Late
Yesterday

TEMPERATURE IS 55°

Water is 20 Degrees Colder
Than That Taken From
The Delaware River

Another million gallons of artesian well water is being pumped daily into the distribution mains of the Bristol water system. The additional supply started yesterday when what is known as the "iron" well was put into service, water being pumped from it at the million gallon daily rate.

The water from this well, before it is pumped into the mains, passes through an aeration, sedimentation and filtration process. It is then delivered to the mains at a temperature of 55 degrees, which is about 20 degrees colder than water is being taken from the Delaware river.

The other wells at the Bath Road project of the Water Department supply 2,000,000 gallons daily and the Edgely wells are giving 1,000,000 gallons daily, making a total supply of 4,000,000 gallons every 24 hours of the borough's water supply from artesian wells.

During the drought of the past two weeks the water consumption ran exceptionally high and in addition to the supply from wells pumped at that time, there were 3,800,000 gallons being pumped daily from the Delaware river.

Friday the consumption rate was running very high and an appeal was made to consumers in Bristol Township to operate necessary lawn sprinklers only during the morning hours and consumers in Bristol using water for the same purpose, to do so only during the afternoon period. This reduced the demand considerably, according to records of the water department.

The well put into operation yesterday was the third well drilled on the Bath Road operation. The water could not be used at that time due to its iron content. The other six wells on this project have been in operation for some time and proven satisfactory.

The completion of the "Iron" removal plant at Well No. 3 makes it possible to use this good source of supply.

A capacity crowd of 13,000 delegates, alternates and members of their families, is expected to participate in the ceremonies. The principal address will be made by Harry Colmery, of Washington, D. C., a past national commander of the American Legion.

SUN CAN BE A KILLER

It is not widely enough understood that excessive exposure to the sun can be dangerous. The fad for what is innocently termed summer tan still is growing.
Medical science has discovered that ultraviolet rays of the sun, unless absorbed by clothing or some harmless ointment, directly impede production of blood cells
in the bone marrow, with resulting anemia and its many complications. The practice of exposing tubercular patients to the sun is being discontinued. It has been found more harmful than beneficial.

This announcement is most important at the moment, in view of the increase in infantile paralysis cases in the Midwest. A weakened child is more likely to be a victim than one in full vigor of health. In fact, doctors without exception warn against children spending hours in the sun, urging that they be kept indoors during the heat of the day, with long periods of sleep and rest. Food is a contributing factor. It should be nourishing, never exposed to flies. Milk must be carefully guarded and adequately refrigerated.

In spite of the fact the sun is a great life-giver, it must be remembered it also is dangerous to human life. Many have died from heat in the tropics. Countless heat in the tropics. Doctors now advise those who feel the need of a suntan to enhance their social position to get it at the drug store. And, above all—they add —keep children away from this menace to their health.

NATURE IS KIND

In a year in which the nation needs all the food that can be raised, nature has been extraordinarily kind to the farmers of the United States. For months the nation has been hard pressed to meet the demands of its people, solely because of food shipments
to other nations.

Under the circumstances, a serious crop failure would have been a major disaster. Indeed, the fields of grain now ripening under summer suns and rains promise to produce the richest harvest
in the nation's history.

The prospects, bright on July 1, had brightened still more under favorable weather by July 15
when the Department of Agriculture made a special mid-month survey. At that time the outlook was for a corn crop of 3,487,976, 6000 bushels, approximately 146, 000,000 bushels greater than the prospect two weeks earlier. The expected wheat crop was up 42, 000,000 bushels from the July 1
forecast to a total of 1,132, 075,000.

It is impossible to make hard and fast estimates of output in an occupation surrounded by so many uncertainties as farming.
Uncle Sam will have to keep his fingers crossed until the harvest is safely in.

But if the forecasts are borne out they will ease the situation far more than anyone dared to hope
at the beginning of this summer, when mountains of grain and other foodstuffs were shipped to Europe, leaving the nation's cupboard bare.

of maintaining the White House tie with the CIO. Maybe, he feels compelled to travel forever along the Roosevelt path because of the clatter which the former Roosevelt jobholders and hangers-on make about it. Those are his mistakes, but they have nothing to do with his judgment in making a fight against Mr. Slaughter. If he loses this fight, he will not have lost anything worth while. If he wins, he will have greatly improved his position in the House. But that body will have lost a pretty good member with whom had it not been for that

FINDS SURE-KILL WAY TO USE DDT...IT'S PESTROY DDT

(Destroys Pests)

LIQUID COATING

After application, PESTROY DDT particles rise to top of coating, form crystalline film. This DDT film kills insects that touch it... keeps killing day after day.
A new type of synthetic resin
binds PESTROY to any surface, makes it cling, keeps it from brushing off, blowing away.

This means that, at a time when full-scale peace-time production is imperatively needed, it will be further discouraged. Discouraged production means aggravated scarcities, and scarcities mean still higher prices. If the price-control authorities do not recognize this factor, the black market (which was the real sufferer when OPA died) will blossom again bigger and more greedy than ever.

And yet another factor will presently come to play in the renewed spiral of rising prices. Already labor is restless because higher prices have eaten up much of the "gains" of its strikes a few months ago. Already there is talk of drives for still higher wages.

These are bound to increase as the expected "rollback" fails to materialize—as prices edge still higher instead of lower. When these demands are made, under the present weak-kneed Administration, they are almost certain to be granted—and prices will zoom upward again.

"obligation" to make the Roosevelt policies his own, Mr. Truman would be very much more in political accord than he is now.

A Summary of The News

viction of all as ruthless conspirators who had unleashed an aggressive war.

Two organized attempts against American troops by displaced persons in southern Germany were disclosed by United States Third Army headquarters, which said seven of them had been wounded.

The British Foreign Office refused to comment on an announcement
by Secretary Byrnes that Britain had approved a plan to partition Palestine. Mr. Byrnes said the plan was still under consideration and that no decision would be taken before Monday.

Palestine police seized 376 Zionists in a country-wide search for persons suspected of having links with terrorist groups. Meanwhile, the death toll in the dynamiting of the King David Hotel rose to 76.

General Marshall conferred with the Chinese Communists' chief negotiator, Gen. Chou Enlai, then flew to Kuling to meet Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in what was believed to be a renewed effort to halt
the spreading warfare in China.

Vice Admiral Hoadly said the first undersea explosion of an atomic bomb at Bikini had been more localized in its effects than expected.
He also expressed surprise because relatively few thinly-armored ships had been sunk.

The ending of UNRRA within the next nine months will be urged by the United States, Britain and Canada.

EASTON—(INS)—City maintenance men were not joking when they turned "hotfoot" experts. They were only trying burning oil to rid a section of town of thousands of millipedes, or thousand-leggers,
which infested vacant lots by day
and homes by night.

15,200 hours were flown successfully without accident.

He gave the local club members many suggestions for learning to fly, and declared it is not true that it is possible to learn to fly in four hours. He praised the local airport for the splendid equipment and management, and declared more airports are needed all over the country in order to make stops more convenient in cases of emergency.

Mr. Taylor also mentioned the popularity which small planes have won with farmers on the large western farms, who look after their cattle or crops by that means, and even round up their cattle with them. Oil refining companies, he said, have also found them quite convenient in following their pipe lines in looking for leaks.

Guest Rotarians were Ralph Pennypacker, of the Upper Perkiomen Club, and Samuel Musselman and John Mayes, of the Perkaste club. Other guests were Edward Braden and Albert Paul, Easton; C. William Freed, Jr., Quakertown, and Charles Beatty, Weiselt.

Next week's speaker will be Arthur C. Schofield, New York City, who will give a talk on television.

KNOW YOUR STATE

Of all States in the Union and perhaps of all existing governments in the world, Pennsylvania was the most fortunate in the circumstances of its beginning.

The practical wisdom of William Penn—little appreciated in his own time—has been vindicated by a hundred proofs in the modern world.

Penn was the first man to propose a practical scheme for a league of nations. Ninety years before the formation of the American Union he presented to the King of England a brief and plain plan for the uniting of the colonies in North America. Penn's Charter of Privileges, granted to the people of Pennsylvania in 1701, contains all the principles enunciated 210 years later in the Atlantic Charter, and what is more Penn's promises were literally kept.

How wise his foresight at a time when the whole area of Pennsylvania was one almost unbroken stretch of virgin timber is illustrated by the requirements he laid down to his first colonists in the year of 1681. Foreseeing as no other man of his time could have done the prosperity of growth in this great territory and the need for conserving seed trees to perpetuate forever America's native forests, he imposed this condition: "That in clearing the ground care be taken to leave one acre of trees for every five acres cleared, especially to preserve oak and mulberry for silk and shipping." The brevity and simplicity of this regulation which it had been followed with the insured the United States a continuous and ample supply of lumber for all time is characteristic of Penn's directness of thought.

In the larger arena of world affairs it is not too much to say that if his plan for a world government and the settlement of all international disputes—"By strength and authority of a majority of all nations"—had been put into practice in the year of 1693, that simple and practical scheme would have completely changed the history of the modern world. He proposed representation for all States, both great and small, on the basis of their national resources; that all decisions should be ratified by a three-quarter majority and that the authority of all nations should be used against any country which refused to abide by the decision of this world council. There were no complexities or veto provisions in Penn's scheme of a united world government. He proposed that all questions should be argued by open and free debate and that all ballots should be secret. The tragic fact is that this scheme of world government of more than 250 years ago, like Penn's plan for the conservation of our forests, would have worked.

Court House Park Concerts Are Proving Quite Popular

DOYLESTOWN, July 27—The concerts in court house park here are proving quite popular this summer.

On Wednesday evening the soloist was Miss Irene Frack, her numbers being "When You're Away" and "Thine Alone."

The Ertman sisters, high school students, also rendered popular western airs; the Doesher brothers trumpet trio, gave selections; and there were orchestra numbers.

"Nearer My God to Thee," dedicated to Norman M. Kriebel, father of Richard Kriebel, was a special number in addition to the community sing. Miss Jane Hellyer read poems.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Richard R. Gay
Pastor
Hulmeville Methodist Church

O God, who makes each day a new and perfect thing if we but realize it, we thank thee for these days we have just lived. As we approach the day on which we worship and rest may we prepare our hearts to receive thine inspirations. May the churches of our land be filled with eager worshippers and inspired ministers. May new decisions of loyalty be made. May needy spirits be aided by the spirit which cometh from within and from above. May renewed zeal for the coming of the Kingdom be encouraged. And help us, we pray, to resolve and to plan that the day shall not be spent in selfish pleasure but in outgoing fellowship and rededication. We pray in the Spirit of Christ. Amen.

Error by Petrino and Hits by Nitti and Gumpo Scores 2 Runs for Visitors

Gene Parker suffered his first mound loss of the season last evening on Leedom's field as the league-leading Rossi's Bell Bread whitewashed the Voltz-Texaco team, 4-0, in a Trenton Industrial League game.

Parker allowed the Rossi team only six hits but these were bunched in the second and seventh inning to score the four runs. In the second, an error by Petrino and hits by Tony Nitti and Joe Gumpo scored two runs while in the seventh, Tessaro and Gumpo hit triples and Dick Giedlin smacked a single to center.

The Voltz hurler struck out ten batters and walked six. Capewell who started for Rossi pitched to one batter and was relieved by Slak who finished. Slak allowed seven hits with "Tommy" Carlen, former Notre Dame baseball captain, having three and "Rennie" Funari having a pair of singles.

Aurora Borealis Puts On A Fine Display

It's all right fellows, there really were great, big, green bands of light in the heavens last night.

In fact, Dr. Charles P. Oliver, director of Penn's Observatory, Phila., says that the brilliant display visible in the Philadelphia area was the brightest aurora borealis (northern lights, lub) in five years.

meet, one of the biggest and most representative ever to appear at Langhorne, the program was somewhat delayed.

Langhorne more than regained its rating as the fastest mile dirt track in the world in the season's second show, despite the fact the speedway had only been opened on June 30 after four years of wartime enforced idleness.

Between the inaugural and the second program, more than 30,000 gallons of crankcase oil has been laid on the dirt, the race strip twice harrowed to a depth of six inches and rolled. The result was a new world record for a mile and a new track record for eight miles, as well as exceptionally fast times in general.

Rex Mays accounted for the world's record when he spun through a qualifying trial with a 34.66 seconds mark for a mile, an average of 103 miles an hour. The late Tony Wilburn had held the old mark at 34.81, set in 1942.

George Robson, winner of the 500-mile classic at Indianapolis this year, established the new track record of 4 minutes, 59.92 seconds in the second 8-mile race. Robson also took the 20-mile feature in 12 minutes, 49.99 seconds.

The speed of the track, cars and drivers was further attested when Robson approached the world's mile record with a 35.98 qualifying run and Ted Horn, of Paterson, N. J., covered the 8 miles in 5:02.18.

Horn averaged 100 miles an hour in the 20-mile main event before he lost a wheel on the 14th mile. Fred Carpenter, of Albany, N. Y., had also lost a wheel three laps earlier. Both drivers by skillful maneuvering, despite their speed, averted injury.

ANOTHER NIGHT GAME.

Philadelphia Bobcats to Play Veterans on High School Field

With nine wins to its credit, the Croydon Veterans of Foreign Wars, Schumacher Post, will play the Holmesburg Ramblers tomorrow afternoon on Leedom's field at 6 o'clock.

The Rambler team is one of the three that has beaten the Tacony Aces this season by turning the trick last Friday night. "Eddie" Weeks, the same hurler who beat the Aces, will be on the firing line against the Vets while the first-sacker for the visiting team will be Frank Baker who formerly played with Croydon.

It is most likely that "Jimmy" Cooper or "Herm" Pluma will pitch for Croydon with "Billy" Dea behind the plate. Manager "Wils" Holland will keep the remainder of his line-up intact.

Booking manager Herman Pluma, Sr., has also announced that the Vets will play their second game under the lights at the high school field next Thursday night, meeting Bob Montgomery's Philadelphia Bobcats.

The Bobcats are managed by Montgomery, the lightweight champion, who will be here to manage his club. The "Cats" recently returned from the south where they defeated such teams as the Norfolk Stars, Raleigh, N. C., and the Birmingham (Ala.) Barons.
